

Sangha Wide Call to Practice Green Tara

Dear Sangha

We invite you to join us in a week of focused Green Tara practice. On the 24th, members of our sanghas in Europe and the United States will be leading practice sessions throughout the day. Whether you join online or practice from home, we warmly invite you to take part.

Many of us have felt that this is an important time to deepen our prayers for the benefit of all beings. As we witness increasing fear, uncertainty, conflict, and suffering throughout the world, we are reminded to respond as our tradition has always responded: by practicing together with compassion, courage, and unwavering aspiration.

We especially dedicate these prayers to healing throughout the world, including any known or unknown circumstances affecting our own teachers. Through their own reflections, the leadership of Tara Mandala and Dawn Mountain have unanimously felt that this is an important time to gather in collective Green Tara practice.

If you are able, please make Green Tara practice a special focus this week and join us. May our collective prayers help remove obstacles, ease suffering, and bring benefit to all beings.

With Dharma heartfulness,

Lama Tsultrim Allione

Tulku Ösel Dorje

Lama Rigzin Drolma

Janet Montes-Dias is offering an additional practice!

Zoom-Link: coming soon

We will post further details as they become available. We also warmly invite other approved sangha leaders to volunteer to lead additional Green Tara practice sessions.

With great aspirations to be of benefit during these troubled times, we offer these practices with the heartfelt wish that all beings may be protected, free from fear, and swiftly liberated from suffering.
